Crisis Intervention: Theory And Methodology

Synopsis

Clinicians from many disciplines rely on this definitive reference for its consistent, topical format of case studies and paradigms in crisis resolution. This edition includes chapters on violence in society, infertility, substance abuse, and coverage of Acute Stress Disorder, a new DSM-IV category. Expanded coverage is included on hot topics such as the earthquake in Los Angeles, the Oklahoma City bombing, crisis hotlines, and the latest crisis intervention modalities. A new epilogue outlines the author's vision of the future of crisis intervention. Crisis Intervention Paradigms included at the ends of chapters can be filled out by the reader based on the case study. The completed paradigms can be found in the appendix. New appendixes cover relevant legal & ethical terms, DSM-IV criteria for PTSD and ASD, infertility resources, and the completed paradigms.* A comprehensive, current, and readable look at crisis intervention for nursing students, students in related disciplines, as well as professionals and volunteers throughout the field of health care. * Forty-six paradigms demonstrate the methodology and steps in crisis intervention. * Examines the differences between crisis intervention and other psychotherapeutic approaches to stress the similarities and differences. * Concentrates on the problem-solving process, introduces the reader to basic terminology used in this method of treatment, and explains the intervention paradigm, providing an important tool to the reader. * Examines the legal and ethical issues in psychotherapy, such as sexual harassment and malpractice to prepare the reader for these sensitive situations. * Explores the relatively new area of posttraumatic stress disorder, covering its causes, diagnoses, and treatments, to provide a well-rounded picture. * Focuses on situational crises and the stressful events that can cause them, with case studies from the author's files and theoretical material to illustrate the techniques used by therapists in crisis resolution. * Looks at the changes and crises that occur during developmental and social transitions to prepare the reader for these common crises. * Delves into the concerns of persons with AIDS/HIV, and includes the most current understanding of the disease and all its ramifications. * Examines the burn-out syndrome that is prevalent in today's high-stress environments.

Customer Reviews

I purchased this book in used condition for my Crisis Nursing class. Although it is mostly written for the education of a therapist, I was still able to gain some useful knowledge for my profession, as well. It is quite informative and contains some information that is not included in standard psych texts. New diagnoses such as internet addiction is reviewed as well as information on infertility and how it affects one's mental health. Although it is not a typical psychiatric text -- and, by this I mean it does not review standard mental illnesses such as Schizophrenia or Bipolar Disorder, etc. -- it does provide a lot of information regarding health problems and how they affect one's mental state. I would recommend this book for someone who is a beginner in the field of psychiatry. I have been a psychiatric nurse for six years and it was pretty much a review for me of stuff I had already learned in nursing school. Lots of case studies included for review.

Great body of work and worth every cent. Good condition. The content is what I expected. Greta theoretical book for a fraction of the price.

This book is very detailed and is perfect for a nursing student, practicing nurse or anyone who is interested in the theories of Crisis Intervention. I still read through the book occasionally to review everything that I have learned and it is a great help just for people in general social service situations. I highly recommend this book.

they sent me the wrong book and it was on-it's-way to me from overseas and there was no turning back, so I accepted it.

I am required to purchase this book for a class assignment. The bookstore is out of the book. I am low on cash, and I need the book for psychology 641 at William Carey College. The need for this book gives it a 5 star rating in my book.(smile) I trust the professor; but, he is out of town. The gift certificate will help me purchase the book. I definitely need the book. Thank you for your assistance!
